

MaxaMom: Fighting the Mombie Apocalypse

*Do you know a MaxaMom, or is this a guise to shield your super-hero abilities from the general public?

You're a hero every day. We know it and organize events for supermoms who want to do two things: train and hone daily super-powers and empower. Our children come with us on all adventures for many reasons:

- a. who else watches our kids while we train?
- b. a family that plays together, stays...fabulous.
- c. among other things, children are an advantageous tool in life, boosting endurance both mentally, physically, and emotionally.

We host family-fun races and hold empowering events throughout the winter to help train and teach.

“Like” us on Facebook to stay connected and learn more! Our non-traditional (and traditional) events calendar keeps families boisterous, not bored.

Don't forget to visit our super-supporter, show them this flier and (insert coupon here)